

Action on the Big Plan for adults with Learning Disabilities

Our Big Plan for adults with Learning Disabilities started in 2019 before the COVID pandemic.

You can have a look at it by clicking this link the big plan easyread document

The Big Plan has an action plan.

We want to make sure that the new action plan has the right things in it.

We now need your help to make sure this happens

We did a big consultation when we wrote the Big Plan. We now want to check back about how things are for you.

We are calling this a check in.

(This is not a 12-week consultation)

- The COVID pandemic has made it hard to get people together to talk, so we are sending this out by email for people to share with their contacts
- You can tell us your views on the next page or online

<https://surveys.hertfordshire.gov.uk/s/BigPlan/>

We need to do this work in August and September 2021. Please send your information back by 16th September

Being healthy – What's important to you? You might want to tell us about GPs, dentists, and other health appointments? How did you find using technology, using virtual appointments? Write or draw in the space below.

Where I live – What's important to you? You might like to tell us about housing, support, getting good information? Skills you lost or things you got better at during lockdowns? Spending more time at home or living in a different place? Write or draw in the space below

Being involved in my local community – What's important to you?

This could be about how you've kept connected with other people during the pandemic. Having a job, volunteering,
