

Reducing Parental Conflict Training for Practitioners

A new suite of training is available for frontline practitioners who are working with families experiencing Inter Parental Conflict. This is in response to evidence showing that children who are in families where there is conflict between parents (whether parents are together or apart) are at a higher risk of achieving poor outcomes.

The training, which will be delivered by Knowledgepool, will be a full day course in the classroom with the expectation that an e-learning module will be completed prior to attending.

The e-learning module which will take approximately 45 minutes, will explore the evidence base for parental conflict and its impact on children.

This training will:

- Support practitioners to recognise relationship distress
- Look at the role of father/males carers and help you to understand the importance of co-parenting
 - Help you build confidence in discussing parental conflict
- Bring into focus the impact of parental conflict on child development
 - Explore how to support parents in finding constructive outcomes
- Give you knowledge about other local and national resources available to support parents in conflict

Please do not apply for this training if you have previously attended Brief Encounters and How to Argue Better Training

How to book

Please follow the link to book your place on Eventbrite. Places will be allocated on a first come, first served basis. This training is free to practitioners, however cancellations will be subject to the Family Services Commissioning cancellation policy (please see details below). The terms and conditions of attending the training is that you will contribute to the evaluation by completing a pre and post survey evaluation of the training.

eLearning

We also have a limited number of licences for you to complete all the modules via eLearning, however this will not give you all the in-depth information and practice skills you would gain on the one day, face-to-face training course. You would also not be able to attend the Train the Trainer sessions if you have only completed the eLearning. If you would like more information about the eLearning, please email EHCommissioning@hertfordshire.gov.uk.

Train the Trainer

We are also running a 2 day 'train the trainer' course on Monday 14th and Tuesday 15th October at the BTC (Business and Technology Centre) in Stevenage, for practitioners who have attended the one day training or the previously delivered Brief Encounters or How to Argue Better training. If you would like more information, or to book a place, please email EHCommissioning@hertfordshire.gov.uk.

Cancellations

- All cancellations must be notified by email EHCommissioning@hertfordshire.gov.uk
- If a booking is cancelled within 10 working days without a valid reason, or the delegate fails to attend the course, a cancellation fee of £50 will be charged.
- Valid reasons include non-attendance due to sickness or a statutory role requiring the delegate to be elsewhere at short notice, for example, attending court.
- General pressure of work would not be considered a valid reason.
- Absence due to illness should be notified by email and corroborated by the delegate's line manager.
